

Chapter 9

God's Message And Presence

Over the years, I have been getting messages and feelings that were telling me that God and Jesus received my prayers and had them answered. It kinda reminded me of when Butch first took me to church and told me how a preacher ran all the way around the church but it wasn't the preacher that was doing it, it was the holy spirit. However, I already believed in God but now I know about the Lord Jesus Christ. Personally, I felt sorry for what Jesus Christ has been through. I really cried when I saw a recreation of it. The show was called "Heaven's Gate Hell's Flames".

Ever since I have learned about God and Jesus, I have always wondered what Heaven was like. From what Butch has told me, it is so bright that angels must use their wings to shield their eyes but other than that, it's very pretty and peaceful. I have always loved coming to the Barrett's house but of course; there have been ups and downs. When I want some alone time, I head to the field and pray to God and his son Jesus. Whenever I pray, I look towards the sky. "God, Jesus Christ, I will never forget how you been with me throughout my life time and I think you for keeping me alive. If it wasn't for you and the Barrett's, I would have been either lost or I could of went down the wrong path.", I said softly to them as I kept looking up at the sky, mostly at the stars.
